Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

For the first time in Nevada City's history, its 3¾ per cent bond issues have sold not only at a premium, but a very handsome premium. The Bank of America, no doubt taking cognizance of the fact that Nevada City in all its long life has never defaulted on its bonds, is the lowest bidder. The elementary school bond issue of $72,000, rate of 3¾ per cent, sold at par value with accrued interest when issued with a premium of $1,219. The high school bonds of $46,000, rate 3¾ per cent, sold at par value with accrued interest and a premium of $989. E. M. Rector, chairman of the building committee of the school board, to whose lot fell most of the preliminary work and planning for these bond issues, is much gratified that the bonds have sold at a low interest rate, and at the same time for a substantial premium. Work on the high school will begin as soon as a contract can be awarded.

From Washington, D. C. came the glad news Wednesday that a loan and grant of PWA funds had been made for the Nevada School District (elementary), in the sum of $45,000.00 grant and $55,000 loan. As the district has already voted and sold to Bank of America $72,000 of 3¾ per cent bonds on the unprecedentedly favorable terms hitherto mentioned in these columns, the district will not find it necessary to accept the proffered loan of $55,000 from the government. The grant of $45,000, coming in the shape of an actual gift, needless to say, will be most welcome.

This grant of $45,000 together with $31,000.00 grant to Nevada high school makes a total of $76,000.00 contributed by Uncle Sam as a gift to the two school departments of Nevada City and for the cause of better education! Here and now we offer a tentative apology for anything said in this column, past, present or future, derogatory to the New Deal.

We are at a loss to know what caused the Colorado Supreme Court to restore Judge Ben Lindsey to the Colorado Bar. When Judge Lindsey was debarred from practice in Colorado in 1923, he was accused of accepting a gift of $37,500 from Mrs. Stokes, sometime following his decision on the bench, granting her a divorce. He was also accused of receiving a gift of $10,000 from Mrs. Stokes' attorney, making a total gift of $47,500. He was dismissed from the Colorado Bar on the charge of "gross official misconduct." To the mind of any honest man, this would seem to be an understatement. Despite his somewhat over-emphasized service, sitting as a judge in the juvenile court, youthful offenders, especially those erring ones born with an overplus of sex impulse, we see no reason for reinstating him. According to his own admission he accepted all that money and defended the act. The Supreme Court which debarred Judge Lindsay apparently regarded the gifts as dangerously close to a reward for doing his duty on the bench.

While here and there an Old Guard lets out a roar over the "iniquity" of the new Canadian-U. S. trade pact, concensus of maturing opinion seems to be that it is all to the good so far as this country is oncerned. Beef, wool, and lumber interests may be somewhat adversely affected, but United States manufacturers will benefit hugely, and consumers in both countries will be helped. States like Pennsylvania, where the Old Guard is supposed to be strongest, will especially benefit from sales of manufactures. Motor car makers will enjoy a reduced export tariff rate to Canada. On the whole it would look as if the new trade pact will stimulate employment in both countries.

VALUABLE FURNITURE BURNED WITH HOME

The W. F. Roddy house which was burned Monday night was insured to the amount of $5000 and the loss is estimated at $7,500. Some of the furniture was saved though much was damaged or entirely lost. Many of the pieces of furniture had been collected by Mr. and Mrs. Roddy during their travels and these can never be replaced. The house was occupied by Ted Edinger and family who suffered loss of many personal belongings.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tognarelli had as Thanksgiving Day guests Mrs. Madge Schwartz, Mrs. A. Ramsey and Mr. Dave Richards.

LAST RITES FOR RICHARD JAMES HILL

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Holmes Funeral Home for the late Richard James Hill.

The deceased passed away after a years illness at the home of his daughter Mrs. Leonard Foote who resides on Long street, Tuesday evening. He was a long time and well known resident of this section having resided here 30 years and worked in the local mines. Deceased had many friends, for he was always highly thought of wherever he worked or resided. He leaves to mourn his going: two sons and one daughter, Thomas Hill of Nevada City, Wilfred Hill of Oakland and Mrs. Leonard Foote of Nevada City. Also one sister, Mrs. Louise Morcum of Nevada City.

He was a member of Court Garfield, Foresters of America.

NEW CARAVAN LAW TO BE TESTED IN COURTS

By the arrest of Henry E. Deane, driver for the Nash Motors Co. of a caravan car last week, a test case will be made of the recent caravan law which places a fee of $15.00 on all cars caravaned into the state.

Deane was arrested by inspector Earl Personius of the California Highway Patrol upon refusal to pay the $15.00 fee. Deane, who was represented by Attorney C. W. Dickenson of San Francisco was brought before Judge C. E. Smith in the local court and entered a plea of not guilty. He was bound over to the sheriff of the county and habeas corpus proceedings were instituted. The case will be taken to the supreme court of California for a decision on the legality of the caravan law.

HIGH SCHOOL P. T. A. TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

There will be a meeting of the High School Teacher's Association Monday night, December 2 at the Nevada City High School at 7:30 P. M. The subject for discussion will be "Social Problems of Growing Boys and Girls." A large attendance of parents is urged.

DOWNIEVILLE TO HAVE NEW FOREST HEADQUARTERS

DOWNIEVILLE, Nov. 28.—The untiring efforts of one man were rewarded last week.

That man is Forest Supervisor R. L. P. Bigelow.

And his efforts were directed toward the establishment of an administrative headquarters of the Forest Service at Downieville, the site for which was last week purchased.

It will be located, immediately adjoining the County Courthouse site and consists of four and one half acres.

(NOTE: In case some of the old timers do not know where the site is located, it is what is known as "the Old Rockpile.")

It is the present plan to construct several outbuildings, providing housing facilities for both men and the equipment. This will greatly improve the appearance of that part of Dugan Flat, for the Forest Service is famous for its neat appearing and modern camps.

Time allowed for leveling of the site has been placed at seventeen man years, work on which will be started immediately.

Labor will be done by men under the WPA with funds provided by the Federal government for the improvement of Forestry. It is well to state at this time Mr. Bigelow has worked unceasingly for more than a year to secure these funds.

This is the greatest benefaction occurring to Downieville for many, many years, and it is estimated that in the neighborhood of $2000 monthly will be additionally available to local trade channels.

Sierra county, and particularly Downieville, has much to thank Mr. Bigelow for.—Mountain Messenger.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindley of Berkeley, were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Rector of this city.

CHINA CLIPPER SAILS

With the blessing of California's stalwart Governor Frank F. Merriam, the Pan American China Clipper lifted its 25 tons and sailed away over the broad Pacific to Hawaii, Manila, China, cutting travel time to China from seventeen days (on the fastest boat) to five days by air.

Grammar School Gets $45,000 PWA Grant

Dispatches from Washington, D. C. Wednesday morning stated that the PWA has made a grant of $45,000 toward the new Nevada City elementary school. A loan of $55,000 was also offered but this will not be needed because the bonds are already sold to the Bank of America at the low rate of 3¾ per cent. High school bonds amounting to $46,000 were also sold at the same time by the Nevada City board of education meeting Monday evening. In addition to the low rate of interest the Bank of America will pay a premium of $1,218 on the elementary school bonds and $989 on the high school bonds.

While the PWA has made an outright grant of $45,000 to the elementary school project, and $31,000 to the high school project the actual grant, to either institution will not exceed 45 per cent of the cost of the buildings.

The fact that Nevada City schools were able to obtain such a low rate of interest, along with a substantial premium, as offered by the Bank of America, is regarded as due to the splendid reputation this community has always maintained in paying off its bond issues.

The Bank of Italy also purchased the $75,000 bond issue for the Grass Valley schools, offering four per cent and a premium of $3.279.

A bid was received from the Dean Witter company of San Francisco on all three bond issues, but this bid fell far below that of the Bank of America.

NATIVE OF NEV. CITY IS STATE'S HOME MAKER

In last week's series of personality sketches of outstanding Sacramento women, in the Sacramento Union, Miss Maude I. Murchie, native of Nevada City, was chosen. The sketch follows:

Talk with Miss Maude I. Murchie chief of the bureau of homemaking state department of education, and you come away feeling that her mind is like her desk drawer—uncluttered, practical, efficient.

"It is our purpose to develop and promote the best educational concepts in our field of work, adjusted to the needs and abilities of the students," she says in her clear, firm voice. She goes on to explain that the homemaking concept to which her work is devoted includes "textiles and clothing, preparation and service of foods, nutrition, interior decorating and house furnishing, child care and training, social aspects of the home, home financing and budgeting and consumer education."

A large order, you'll say—Yes, it is, but educating the youth of California in home-making is a large order which Miss Murchie has been filling for many years.

The name Murchie is familiar in mining circles, and Miss Murchie belongs to the family which developed and operated the Murchie mine. Members of her family were pioneers. Her mother crossed the plains by prairie schooner and her father came by way of Panama. Miss Murchie was born in Nevada City, and started her teaching career in the schools of her home town.

Later she went to the San Jose State Teachers College, and then to Columbia where she received a B. S. degree in education.

"I intended to study something else when I went—I was interested in manual art," she says. "But the field of home-making seemed more promising, and I have found it constantly enlarging ever since.

After teaching in Oakland public schools, Miss Murchie returned to San Jose college where she instituted the household arts department. In 1918, she was appointed state supervisor of vocational home economics. Later when the bureau of homemaking education was created, she became its chief.

Miss Murchie spends at least half her time in travel, as she does much institute work, and visits many individual schools throughout the state.

For recreation, Miss Murchie turns to reading and gardening. She is particularly interested in iris, roses and flowering bulbs.

She is a member of the American Association of University Women, Soroptimists, the National Education association, the National Vocational association, the California Society of Secondary Schools, the American Home Economics association, and is a vice president of the third district P. T. A.

As a little girl, Miss Murchie walked from her parents ranch home, now the Murchie mine ground, and the home site the present Barton home, a mile and a half east of Nevada City, to the local schools. She is a cousin of Messrs. Ray and Edward Murchie of this city and often visits them. When the home economics department was added to the Nevada City high school last fall she visited the school, and her cousins, the Murchie brothers.

County Exceeds Home Building Loan Quota

Nevada County holds the distinction of being one of the first of fourteen counties in the United States already to exceed their quota under the modernization credit plan of the National Housing Act, it was announced by Jay Keegan, associate director of the Federal Housing Administration in the Northern California district.

Five of these banner counties are in this district, Keegan said. They are with the percentage by which their quotas have been subscribed: Alpine 332.63 per cent; Calaveras 117.77 per cent; Eldorado 196.76 per cent; Madera 101.01 per cent; and Nevada 233.01 per cent.

More than a thousand modernization projects, approximating in excess of a million dollars and financed through loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration, have been completed in these five counties, it was announced.

Under this phase of the Housing Act it is possible to borrow from local banks, on no security other than the borrower's promise and ability to pay, as much as $2000 for the modernization and rehabilitation of home and farm properties and for the purchase and installation of modern labor-saving appliances for the home and farm.

"Our congratulations are extended to the thrifty and progressive people of Nevada county," Keegan said. "It is significant that five of these first fourteen counties should be in Northern California, where the public has been quick to appreciate and take advantage of this convenient form of financing home improvements.

"With Christmas shopping season here it is expected this enviable record will soar to even greater heights, since it is possible under this plan of financing to purchase practical gifts now on terms of no payment down until after the first of the year. Payments then are divided into equal monthly installments extending over periods as long as three, and in some instances five years, according to the amount involved and the income of the borrower.

"In addition to household appliances, structural changes such as construction of additional rooms, renovations, painting, re-roofing, landscaping, the urchase and planting of ornamental shrubs, and all similar permanent improvements are eligible for financing under this plan."

Modernization loans in the Northern California district now exceed $17,000,000, and in the state approximate $31,000,000, Keegan said, which places California ahead of all other states in the field of modernization. Such loans in the United States to date were reported as $212,544,959, covering 579,831 modernization projects.

ALL MATERIALS FOR HOUSE IN ALLEGHANY LOADED ON TRUCK

Mr. J. H. Lashbough of Alleghany, in a hurry for a house, rushed into the Builder's Supply House early this week and ordered a complete dwelling. Inside two hours the amount of lumber, plumbing, stove pipe, a roof safe, paint, nails, screws, and materials for a complete house had been loaded on a truck and was on its way to Alleghany. Fred Conner, veteran lumber dealer and manager of the Builder's Supply House declared that never before in his long experience had he seen materials for a complete house loaded on one truck.

PWA GRANT OF $84,514 MADE FOR NEW HOSPITAL

A grant of $84,514 has been made toward building a new hospital for Nevada county. The hospital, according to plans perfected by Dr. Carl P. Jones and the Idaho-Maryland Mines company, will cost approximately $200,000 and will be located on a part of the lands owned by the Nevada County Golf Club on the Nevada City-Grass Valley highway. Tentative agreement for the purchase of a suitable acreage was made some months ago. It is understood that while the county will retain nominal control of the hospital the additional capital needed for the erection of this modernly planned institution will be contributed from private sources.

Dr. Jones, who enlisted the interest of the Nevada County board of supervisors then stated that it shall have all the modern conveniences and equipment for all kinds of surgery, for various treatments, shall be sufficiently large to meet the needs, not only of Nevada county, but of much of the territory tributary to Grass Valley and Nevada City.

SKIWAY TRAIL MARKERS WILL BE UNIFORM

Of interest to the skiers of this region and winter sport enthusiasts who come to this area during the skiing season, says the Sierra Sun, is the recent decision of the Forest Service to supply at a small cost to ski clubs and organizations interested in marking ski trails, a uniform ski trail marker which will be used throughout the entire state.

The ski clubs have felt the need of such a marker for sometime and with the cooperation of the State Chamber of Commerce and the Forest Service, have been successful in having such a marker supplied by the Forest Service.

Each ski club is requested to see that the trails in their territory are marked with these markers. There are many trails in the Truckee Tahoe Region that have been in need of such markers for sometime and it will be of great benefit to the winter tourists to find these trails plainly marked.

The ski markers are to be made of 24 gauge galvanized iron with a metal priming coat, painted chrome yellow orange in enamel with black letters. The markers will be triangle in shape and nine inches in size.

Each marker will carry the wording Sierra Skiways, the emblem of the club, arrows pointing either straight ahead or curved to right or left and the name of the ski trail.

Stamp Fight Beating Tuberculosis

When we review what has taken place in the scientific and industrial world during the past thirty years and note the rapid development of the automobile, the airplane, electrical machinery, the radio and the like, we are apt to forget that an equally spectacular progress has been made in public health and particularly in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis.

During the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas in nearly every city and cross roads village in America, Christmas Seals are being sold. In California sixty-five affiliated members of the California Tuberculosis Association have sent Seals by mail to practically every home in the state.

Thirty years ago in a city the size of Sacramento, three hundred and fifty citizens would die each year from tuberculosis. During this year only 66 persons have died in a city the size of Sacramento. This is a dramatic illustration of the announcement that sixty-six deaths per hundred thousand population was the 1935 record for California.

Thirty years ago when a doctor diagnosed a case as tuberculosis, it was equivalent to a death warrant. Today with modern methods of treatment, and modern methods of diagnosing the disease in its early stage, most persons who have tuberculosis have a good chance for recovery.

Health experts tell us that tuberculosis can be banished from our midst if we will apply the instrumentalities which we now have at hand.

The use of these instrumentalities requires but the purchase of Christmas Seals which cost only one cent each, an easy and convenient method for every man, woman and child in California, to put his resources, large or small, in the fight to obtain final victory over this scourge of centuries, the great White Plague.

MOSCOW CHOIR TO GIVE GREAT CHORAL CONCERT

MOSCOW

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28.—The Moscow Cathedral Choir, which the Sacramento Music Series will present in concert on Wednesday evening, December 4th, in the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium, made its American debut in Town Hall, New York on October 25.

Referring to this initial New York performance, Musical America in a recent issue says:

"An exhibit to thrill the spirit and renew a possibly waning faith in choral singing was the performance, the first in New York of the Moscow Cathedral Choir in the Town Hall on the evening of October 25th. A group of pre-revolution Russians, organized in Paris by their conductor, Nicholas Afronsky, these nineteen singers have developed a technique of singing together, the like of which is rarely encountered."

In closing, the article states:

"The audience was a large one, and its enthusiasm for this exceptional performance frequently broke into vocal expressions of approval."

This comment is typical of the recreation evoked by the choir wherever it has appeared throughout this, its first American tour. It seems to be the general consensus of opinion that no choral group in the world is quite comparable to this unique company of Russian singers. Years of patient work on the part of Nicholas Afronsky, conductor, have been necessary to bring it to its present state of perfection.

Afronsky is one of the most colorful personalities in the history of modern music. He was born in Kieff, Russia, and early in life studied for the stage, being the possessor of a superb tenor voice.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Wales' Fancy Pants.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—All is excitement in London. The prince of Wales has adopted a new style in trouserings called the "straight outline."

With no desire to be morbid, I've gone into the fascinating details. I glean from the cablegrams that they touch the wearer in but one place, and only then if his royal highness is sitting down. When walking, he has to take two steps while the trousers are taking one. It's as though Slim Summerville swiped my things and was trying to escape with the goods on. I shall not follow the royal example. As a snappy dresser I never seem to get anywhere, somehow. George Ade once said no matter what I put on I still looked like Paducah, Ky., and when I read what the well-dressed man will wear I sorrowfully admit there's nothing correct about me except my back collar button and I'm not so sure about that. It's one of those plain bone ones—nothing flashy.

Irvin S. Cobb.

So I shall continue to stick to the garments enclosing me at the moment. They are, as you might say, my pre-depression pants. In youth they sheltered me; I'll not desert them now. Besides, I might be arrested.

Hollywood Hermits.

IF YOU'VE been to Movieland, you've seen our fur-bearing hermits. As true recluses, these gentlemen have the innate desire to avoid being conspicuous, which is ever characteristic of Hollywood. So they march the principal streets all day, with their long hair and their ditto whiskers waving in the climate, and wearing as few clothes as the law allows—and out here we allow few indeed.

There is a single member of the group who's different. He's just as woolly as the others, but he doesn't parade up and down. Nor will he tell you his name or the address of his cave, or where he came from or where he's going. Some think he has a secret past. But I think he has a great ambition.

It's my idea he wants to go down in history as the one who was not commissioned a colonel on the staff of the governor of Kentucky.

The Legacy of Youth.

IN THE brave days before '28 the future of an ambitious young graduate was assured. He sold bonds. Statistics show there was a salesman for every bond. Shortly thereafter, any fellow who owned a bond was his own salesman.

I still have some very beautiful ones which I'd like to swap for a pair of moss-agate cuff buttons, a ukulele, a collection of postage stamps or what have you?

Then followed the dreary years when the youth with a diploma had nowhere to head in—desperate, hopeless years. But now—now he needn't worry any more about a career. It's all fixed. He can step out of college right into a CCC camp.

I am ashamed—trying to be funny over a most grim tragedy. It doesn't matter about our generation, the mad architects of this disaster. We're too numbed by blows, some of us, to start over; too old, some of us, even to try; too stupid to admit that, by futile war, by speculation, by crazed extravagance, we laid this burden upon our children and our children's children.

We have sowed in folly; they must reap the bitter grain.

The Return of Prosperity.

GOOD times are certainly coming back—at least to the fur business. I hear prices are so high that only the wealthier minks can afford their own skins; the rest of them will go through the winter wearing dyed rabbit.

I went to a party and nearly every woman there was up to her ears in ermine or chinchilla or silver fox or some other very exclusive peltry. There was one large lady who had on at least three kinds of expensive wild animals. If somebody had left the door open, her wrap would have stolen right back to the zoo.

It's fine prosperity is returning. Wouldn't it be grand if, instead of being visited on a favored few, it could be passed around?

Crooning to Oysters.

THE professional crooner has found his musical soul-mate. It's our famous Pacific coast bi-valve, that winsome creature which is about the size of a suspender button.

A Seattle judge experimented on the harmonic affinities of shell fish. He didn't get anywhere with the clam, clams being proverbially dumb, but, working on our cunning little native oyster, he first established its natural vibration, then found a note to correspond. Do that, and an oyster opens right up.

"They open easiest," says the discoverer, "when crooners are performing."

Now let's establish what form of animal life responds spiritually to a columnist.

AUTO PURCHASES GAIN 51 PERCENT

Automobile buying in California, which began an upward trend in 1933 and continued at an increased pace in 1934, showed even greater acceleration during the first ten months of 1935, according to the Bank of America Business Review.

This expansion in sales volume, notable in both passenger and commercial cars, is one of the most encouraging evidences of business revival in this state, the Review reports.

A comparison of automobile sales in California with previous periods reported shows that not only were the ten months' sales this year greatly in excess of the like period of 1934, but sales up to November 1 of this year were substantially higher than for each of the full years of 1934, 2933, 1932, 1931.

Ten month passenger car sales in California this year totaled 158,117 cars, a gain of 53.9 per cent over the ten months showing in 1934.

During the first ten months of 1935 commercial car sales in California totaled 23, 620 cars, a gain of 37.7 per cent over the first ten months of last year and 110.9 per cent over the first three quarters of 1933.

The total of passenger and commercial cars sold in California during the first ten months of this year was 181,737, an increase of 51.6 per cent over the like period last year, 87.7 per cent over the first ten months of 1933 and 150.4 per cent over the first ten months of 1932.

BUSINESS INDEX HIGHER

Bank of America's preliminary index of October business conditions in the Far West registered 68.4, an increase of 11.2 per cent over October of 1934 and a gain of 25 per cent over the depression low of March, 1933.

For the first ten months of this year, California's bank debits have increased 18.3 per cent, retail sales have moved up 10.4 per cent and building and construction gained 93.1 per cent, the Bank of America Business Review reports.

GREEK IMBIBERS ANNOYED FANS IN B. C. STADIUMS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—"Current news stories concerning drinking at college games and its effect upon such activities merely chronicle how human nature repeats itself," says Dr. Arthur P. McKinlay, professor of Latin at the University of California at Los Angeles. "There is an inscription of the fifth century, B. C., near the stadium at Delphi that forbids the carrying of wine into the stadium on pain of a fine of five drachmae, or about 85 cents. Drinkers would try to get around the prohibition by first dedicating their tipple to the god that presided over the games.

"They would thus carry the wine in with them and drink it at their pleasure. But the inscription especially prohibited this subterfuge. Half of the fine went to the outraged deity, and half to the informer. In Rome, too, games were seized upon as an occasion for drinking. Augustus once rebuked a knight for drinking at such a performance. Later wine was furnished by the state to the spectators. The poet Martial tells of wine tokens being issued for such a purpose. The allowance to each knight was ten tokens."

GOVERNOR ASKS CAMPAIGN FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 27.—Characterizing California's highway death toll as "appalling," and declaring that the problem can no longer be treated dispassionately, Governor Frank F. Merriam today called for an aroused public opinion to promote safe driving and check the rapidly mounting list of traffic fatalities.

The governor strongly commended the campaign being undertaken by the California Safety Council in an effort to prevent accident tragedies during the holiday season, when traffic congestion and shopping crowds add to the hazards on the streets and highways.

Governor Merrim's statement follows:

"As we face the appalling list of fatalities caused by motor vehicle accidents on the highways of California within a single year, counting the dead and injured as we would following a disastrous flood or fire, we realize something of the significance of this problem. We can no longer refer to i tdispassionately as we sometimes do to other problems of public life.

"Last year, 2,805 men, women and children were killed within the limits of this Commonwealth in motor vehicle accidents and 45,153 were injured or crippled. This means that for every 715 cars which were operated on our public highways one person was killed, and for every 44 cars an adult or child was injured.

"Only through enlightened public opinion can we arouse our people to their responsibility in reducing the causes of accidents which are doubly tragic because they can be largely prevented if a proper attitude in drviing is always observed. The majority of fatal accidents occur when at least one of the cars involved is traveling at a rate of speed obviously in violation of the laws of the state.

"I should like to commend the California Safety Council and the local safety committees in their educational campaigns to prevent accidents and reduce the list of dead and injured. It is also of vital importance that owners and drivers of our commercial vehicles should enlist in this new campaign for greater safety and respect for life. The records of last year show that in more than 30 per cent of the creshes between two or more vehicles some truck or commercial car was involved. This campaign should have the enthusiastic support and cooperation of every citizen interested in the cause of safe driving.

"With Abraham Lincoln, let us remember that "Public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment, nothing can fail; without it, nothing can succeed." It is aroused cooperative public interest that California needs at this time in meeting this problem."

PENNSYLVANIA MINE

Mining and development continue in the recently unwatered shaft at the Pennsylvania mine in Browns Valley with splendid ore being mined in new ground on the 450 foot level. A dump is nearly complete for ore which is to be treated in a mill the Newmont interests are rumored to be planning for the property. High grade ore is trucked to the company's mill in Grass Valley for reduction. The ledge faulted in the old workings and the company spent considerable money trying to locate the ledge of rich ore, finally closing the property and the Newmont company engineers have located the ore and it is felt will bring another producer into the Nevada connty field. Airy Nothings

Nell had no need of spectacles—
At least that's what she said,
But from this month's best seller,
These startling words she read.

"He looked at his enemy with a cold, circulating eye and suddenly fell to the floor in an apologetic fit."

There are so many stalwart men
Who wink a "gimme" eye,
I hope they'll all be presidents—
In the Sweet By and By.

"All sails look white across the sea of years."

Beware the guiles of Memory
She's a deceitful jade, you see.

There never were such perfect days
As those she paints for me;
There never were such milk white sails
Upon so blue a sea.

Across the seas are war and strife,
The daily story runs;
But here—
The noise we make at foot ball games
Would drown the roar of guns.

FRENCH UNCOVER BIG GOLD FIELD ON IVORY COAST

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Gold deposits, some of which are richer than any outside the Transvaal are within the grasp of French prospectors who are slowly charting a huge triangular tract of savage country in hottest, darkest Africa.

The cautious French do not want to call it a gold rush comparable to the booms of California and Alaska. But they are working with optimistic official support, first to map and then to exploit lucrative deposits of yellow dust in France's vast African possessions.

News of the hopes which France places in African gold first came to the knowledge of the world early this fall, when the Ministry of Colonies in a surprise statement announced that preliminary prospecting had been completed and detailed work which must precede modern mining was to be begun.

RICH IVORY COAST

The area, where prospectors are busy making charts of deposits and where they hope to begin mining soon with the most modern implements that can be used in that part of the world, is a triangular section including most of the Ivory Coast, part of French Guinea and part of the French Niger. There are spots where the ore is extremely rich, and parts where it is mixed with many other elements, but almost everywhere in this area there is some of the precious metal, to be found.

Explorers have known of this gold for many years. In large sections of the vast tracts they traversed they found that the natives had been mining the metal for hundreds; perhaps even a thousand years, yet it was not until this autumn that the time was considered ripe for officially announcing paying claims.

MUST BUILD ROADS

This was not due to indifference or negligence, nor did it have anything to do with lack of knowledge of the real wealth to be found in this African soil. It had to do with roads.

Until now there have been no roads adequate to transport the gold profitably. Only this year have roads numerous enough and good enough for trucks to pass been completed, and therefore only now can there be talk of profitably mining the gold.

Working quietly in the past few years prospectors advanced almost at the same rate as road builders, with the result that they finished their preliminary mapping at the same time that the roads were completed.

NATIVES' LIVING INVOLVED

It is true that the lack of modern transportation never has troubled the natives, thousands of whom have lived exclusively on mining their own gold for generations, but the amount of gold that will give a native a livelihood is not enough for a European mining company.

The French were confronted with one serious political problem when they announced the finding of paying gold. Over a fide area the natives depend on the metal for their living, and they would certainly be ruined if modern companies created mines mechanically in competition with them. And if they were deprived of their livelihood they would make trouble.

Officials of the Ministry of Colonies, therefore, plotted out large districts where the natives work in the greatese numbers, and ruled that in these parts thousands of miles in area no white miners are to penetrate. Thus, while Europe gets its gold, the Africans still will do their small scale mining and through traders of their own race—mostly rice and cloth merchants of the Dioula tribes—they will continue to live on money they dig out of the ground, as they have always done.

Mr. Harry Poole, of the local P. G. & E. staff and family spent Thanksgiving with Mr. Poole's parents in Smartsville.

Judge W. L. Mobley was a Sacramento visitor this week.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Locklin of Los Angeles are Nevada City visitors. Mr. Locklin is a mining engineer and is up here to look after mining interests. He resided in Nevada City twenty years ago and is well acquainted with the mines of this region.

Mrs. M. Grimes has as visitors this week her daughter, Mrs. G. M. Flint and son, Billy, of Oakland.

Gove Celio, Jr., who is attending San Jose State College, came up Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving and the week end with his mother, Mrs. Catherine Celio in this city. His sister, Miss Catherine Celio, who attended the big game last week end accompanied him home.

BOOTLEGGERS FINED

Justice of the Peace Charles A. Morehouse fined Fanny Smith $75 on a charge of selling whisky without a license. She was arrested by Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen and Russell B. Farley of the state board of equalization.

Mrs. Eva Leach of Walnut Creek, returned home Wednesday after a most enjoyable visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harris of Nevada City. Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Leach are old schoolmates. Mrs. Leach gave a most interesting talk before the Civic Club Monday evening.

Donald Strandberg, who accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins to San Jose and the big game last week end, returned home Tuesday having combined business with pleasure.

MOTOR TOURISTS IN 53 PCT GAIN

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28.—Tourist travel into California increased 53 per cent in the first ten months of 1935 compared with the period from January 1 to October 31 last year.

In reporting that 139,436 non-resident permits, or 48,424 more than in the comparable period of 1934, were issued motorists entering California, Russell Bevans, deputy director of department of motor vehicles, emphasized the fact that fewer indigents came into the state in the last several months than during the recent years of depressed business. Border checkers, said Bevans, generally report an influx of substantial persons of the home-buying and home making type.

Exactly 12,699 non-resident permits were issued in the month of October this year as against 9064 in the same month of 1934, according to the report.

According to border checking stations of the department of motor vehicles, there was a total of 180,714 motor cars crossing California's borders in the first ten months of this year. These cars carried 522,717 passengers. These latter figures are not to be confused with non-resident permits issued as they include interstate operators of vehicles and visitors who remain less than five days in the state.

In the 10-month period of this year, Arizona contributed the greatest number of tourists who obtained non-resident vehicle permits in California, the neighboring state having sent in 14,955 travelers. Other leading contributing states were: Oregon 11,138; Washington, 9661; Texas, 8456; Colorado, 6278; Illinois, 6162; Nevada, 6238 and New York, 5099.

RAILWAY TRAVEL IS MUCH SAFER

This is a story that figures tell better than words.

It has to do with the relative safety of the modern methods of overland travel, automobile, the airplane, and the railroad.

Statistics prove the highways more hazardous than the airways or the rails, according to M. J. Gromley, executive assistant of the Association of American Railroads.

On the highways, for every 20,000,000 passenger miles traveled one person is killed; over the airways for every 24,000,000 passenger miles one is killed, while over the rails, only one fatality is recorded in every 400,000,000 passenger miles, Gormley said.

The figures prove rail transportation 20 times safer than highway and 16 2-3 times safer than by air, according to Gormley.

A Glimpse of Building Activity

VOL 1. NOVEMBER 29, 1935. No. 34.

This Thanksgiving Season finds us thankful for the many friends we have in the community and thankful that we are able to be of service to them.

Peerless Built-in Fixtures were chosen by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McConnell for their new home on Church street in Grass Valley.

The builder on this job, Mr. Henry Theilan is very much pleased with the Peerless and we know the owners will be well satisfied.

These nippy mornings just naturally made us break up a few bundles of Palco Bark Fibre and insulate the ceilings over our office. We won't have to stoke the stove so often now.

Plastering Contractor C. Fertig is busy with the plastering on the new home being constructed by Contractor Julius Rude on Red Dog Road at the city line.

Bestile the beautiful colored tileboard for bath rooms and kitchens is daily gaining popularity. We have the samples of the colors and will be glad to figure your kitchen and bathroom.
